

THE OFFICE OF GLOBAL HEALTH PRESENTS THE GLOBAL HEALTH LECTURE SERIES

Information Literacy and Science Communication with Nini Munoz, PhD

Thursday,
November 11th, 2021
12p - 1p
\(Register Here\)

Dr. Munoz is an electrical and Electronics engineer with a focus in biosensing and neural interface technology.

She now dedicates time to breaking down and communicating health science data and concepts to her many followers on social media.

She has been particularly helpful to the scientific community during the COVID-19 pandemic as she builds easy to understand and informative infographics using real data pulled from various databases and debunks the myths and misinformation surrounding many publications with the help of other experts in various fields.
