

Global Health Lecture Series

Bridging Gaps: Global Examples of Community Health Worker Programs

featuring

Julie St. John, DrPH, MA

Associate Chair, Julia Jones Department of Public Health
Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences, TTUHSC

Wednesday, September 20

Noon, ACB 100

Abilene attendees may join in ABPH 2200

This presentation will briefly define community health workers and describe their role in reducing health disparities and improving population health status, followed by highlighting global examples of CHW programs.

Julie St. John is the Associate Chair of the TTUHSC Abilene Department of Public Health. She founded the National Community Health Worker (CHW) Training Center at Texas A&M School of Public Health. Julie is a Texas certified CHW Instructor, serves on the state CHW Advisory Committee, is an APHA CHW Section council member, and has worked with CHWs over 14 years utilizing CBPR and community health development approaches. She is currently the Co-PI on the C3 project—a national CHW project focusing on CHW scope of practice and assessment approaches.

This event is free & open to the public. Free lunch will be provided to the first 50 attendees. No RSVP is necessary.

For more information about the Global Health Lecture Series, contact the Office of Global Health at 806-743-2901 or globalhealth@ttuhsc.edu.

Persons needing assistance should contact the Office of Global Health for arrangements.